what is to be done that is the issue political movements social thinkers economists and governments all over the world must now confront without trying to propose specific policies the author puts forward a highly suggestive set of principles and ideas book jacket

a major rereading of marx s critique of political economy now a classic of marxian economics the limits to capital provides one of the best theoretical guides to the history and geography of capitalist development in this edition harvey updates his seminal text with a substantial discussion of the turmoil in world markets today delving into concepts such as fictitious capital and uneven geographical development harvey takes the reader step by step through layers of crisis formation beginning with marx s controversial argument concerning the falling rate of profit and closing with a timely foray into the geopolitical and geographical implications of marx s work projecting win win situations new economic opportunities green growth and innovative partnerships the green economy discourse has quickly gained centre stage in international environmental governance and policymaking its underlying message is attractive and optimistic if the market can become the tool for tackling climate change and other major ecological crises the fight against these crises can also be the royal road to solving the problems of the market but how green is the green economy and how social or democratic can it be this book examines how the emergence of this new discourse has fundamentally modified the terms of the environmental debate interpreting the rise of green economy discourse as an attempt to re invent capitalism it unravels the different dimensions of the green economy and its limits from pricing carbon to emissions trading from sustainable consumption to technological innovation the book uses the innovative concept of post politics to provide a critical perspective on the way green economy discourse represents nature and society and their interaction and forecloses the imagination of alternative socio ecological possibilities as a way of repoliticising the debate the book advocates the construction of new political faultlines based on the demands for climate justice and democratic commons this book will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental politics political ecology human geography human ecology political theory philosophy and political economy includes a foreword written by erik swyngedouw professor of geography manchester university this volume provides a critique of the assumption of increasing commodification in the modern economy jeffrey bell argues that a motivating problematic for existentialist writers is the attempt to think through the implications of the problematic nature of life he applies a deleuzian theory of problems to an analysis of some key concepts in contemporary social and political theory building on the metaphysics of problems set out in his book an inquiry into analytic continental metaphysics he provides a new way of integrating the concerns of existentialist writers into contemporary political and social debates this volume brings together some of the leading voices in the field of deleuze studies to explore and practice a variety of approaches to the schizoanalysis of religion the authors share an enthusiasm for applying deleuze and guattari s schizoanalytic project to religion but they display significantly different ways of carrying out its creative and destructive tasks as a whole the book addresses the relevance of deleuze for contemporary developments in political theology liberation theology christian doctrine and the recent growth of interest in spirituality and atheism opening up new lines of flight for deleuze studies deleuze and the schizoanalysis of religion makes rhizomic connections that will be of interest to scholars in other fields including theology psychology of religion philosophy of religion and the history and practice of western esotericism a critique of capital through the lens of war and a critique of war through the lens of the revolution of 1968 we are at war declared the president of the french republic on the evening of november 13 2015 but what is this war exactly in wars and capital Éric alliez and maurizio lazzarato propose a counter history of capitalism to recover the reality of the wars that are inflicted on us and denied to us we experience not the ideal war of philosophers but wars of class race sex and gender wars of civilization and the environment wars of subjectivity that are raging within populations and that constitute the secret motor of liberal governmentality by naming the enemy refugees migrants muslims the new fascisms establish their hegemony on the processes of political subjectivation by reducing them to racist sexist and xenophobic slogans fanning the flames of war among the poor and maintaining the total war philosophy of neoliberalism because war and fascism are the repressed elements of post 68 thought alliez and lazzarato not only read the history of capital through war but also read war itself through the strange revolution of 68 which made possible the passage from war in the singular to a plurality of wars and from wars to the construction of new war machines against contemporary financialization it is a question of pushing 68 thought beyond its own limits and redirecting it towards a new pragmatics of struggle linked to the continuous war of capital it is especially important for us to prepare ourselves for the battles we will have to fight if we do not want to be always defeated is democracy hazardous to the health of the environment the democratic imagination examines different conceptions of democracy exploring tensions that emerge in key moments and debates in the history of democracy from ancient greece to the french revolution to contemporary egypt whilst the regulation approach has gone beyond its peak of influence and has been diluted of much of its radical content this outstanding critical appreciation of its strengths and weaknesses will prove an invaluable point of reference for all those engaged in the political economy of the national within the global economy ben fine university of london uk this unique and original book offers a critical survey of the regulation approach an influential theoretical school born in the 1970s and belonging to the neo marxist and radical political economy traditions the author s persuasive argument is that regulation in order to explain capitalist development resorts to historicism and institutionalism and thereby adopts a middle range methodology he contends that both its theoretical and methodological perspectives are currently unfit for this purpose this novel critique of regulation will prove a challenging and stimulating read for academics researchers and graduate students with an interest in heterodox economics the history of economic thought political economy regional development and labour process theory this book places hegel heidegger and deleuze in conversation with one another which results in a new joyful way of thinking about death
